HERE AND ON THE COVER: Dave Pidgeon was one of the runners-up in the Second Annual Instagram contest that is presented by Discover Lancaster in association with Paul Anater. His shot captures one of Lancaster’s most beloved events: the fireworks show that follows the Fourth of July concert at Long’s Park.

Dave’s success as a relatively new photographer couldn’t have happened to a nicer person. Photography seems to be a natural outlet for this former news reporter. In Dave’s own words, “I’ve been blessed with meeting and working with a lot of amazing people on my journey, and whether it’s a moment like marrying my wonderful wife, Allison, to covering a presidential campaign for the news, to standing in the glory of Zion National Park to watching my two sons grow up, one thing has been clear—great moments deserve great photography. If you ever meet someone who’s known me even for just a little while, they’ll tell you that I’m a natural-born storyteller. And I bring that love for storytelling into my photography work, which in today’s world is so important. We’re telling our stories on places like Instagram and Pinterest with images.”
